

Yarram Early Learning Parental Leave Policy

Quality Area 7 – Leadership and service management

PURPOSE

This policy informs staff members of their entitlements for paid and unpaid parental leave and its application at Yarram Early Learning Centre.

POLICY STATEMENT

VALUES

Yarram Early Learning is committed to providing a family friendly work/life balance to staff, the centre provides arrangements for staff who require leave associated with the raising and care of children who are under school age.

SCOPE

This policy applies to the Approved Provider, Certified Supervisor, Nominated Supervisor, Educators and other staff at Yarram Early Learning.

BACKGROUND AND LEGISLATION

Background

Unpaid Parental Leave: Under the National Employment Standards in the Fair Work Act 2009, staff, other than a casual employee, are entitled to parental leave if the staff member has, or will have, completed at least twelve (12) months of continuous service with the YELC immediately before the birth or adoption of a child.

Educators are entitled to twelve (12) months of unpaid parental leave if leave is associated with;

- The birth of a child to the staff member or spouse of staff member
- Placement of a child with the staff member for adoption
- Staff member has or will have the responsibility of the child

Educators must give YELC ten (10) weeks written notice before the starting of parental leave. The notice must specify the starting date and ending date. A Doctor's confirmation letter is required to accompany the written notice.

The Employee is required to notify the employer of his/her intention to return to work not less than 4 weeks prior to the expiration of their period of parental leave. He/She shall be entitled to the position held immediately prior to taking leave, or in the case of an employee who was transferred to alternative duties, to the position held immediately prior to this transfer. Where such a position no longer exists, but other positions are available for which the employee is qualified and capable of performing, the employee will be entitled to a position as nearly comparable in status and salary to their former position.

Australian Government Paid Parental Leave Scheme: Employees may also be eligible to receive parental leave pay from the Australian Government under the Paid parental leave scheme.

Eligible employees who are the primary carer of a newborn or adopted child get up to 18 weeks' leave paid at the national minimum wage. These payments are made to the employer first, who then pays them to the employee. These payments can be paid before, after or at the same time as other entitlements such as annual leave and long service leave.

For children born or adopted on or after 1 July 2016, Parental Leave Pay entitlements paid under the Commonwealth Paid Parental Leave scheme will be reduced where a claimant is also entitled to employer provided Primary Carer Pay (paid maternity leave).

Dad and Partner pay

Eligible working dads and partners (including same-sex partners) get 2 weeks leave paid at the national minimum wage. These payments are made directly to the employee.

Visit Centrelink - Dad and Partner Pay  for eligibility information and to make a claim for dad and partner pay

Record-keeping for paid parental leave

In addition to their usual record-keeping requirements, employers that have employees getting government-funded parental leave also have to keep the following records:

- the amount of parental leave pay funding received from the government for each employee and the period it covers
- the date each parental leave payment was made to the employee
- the period each payment covers
- the gross amount of the payment
- the net amount paid and the amount of income tax withheld (including other payments, if any, were made)
- a statement identifying the payment as parental leave pay under the Australian Government Paid Parental Leave Scheme
- the amount of any deductions made from each payment.
- Pay slips for parental leave payments

Employees who get parental leave pay have to be given a pay slip for each payment. The pay slip must specify that the payments are parental leave pay under the Australian Government Paid Parental Leave Scheme.

Ordinary pay slip requirements apply to pay slips given to employees getting government-funded parental leave pay. They must also include:

- the gross and net amounts of parental leave pay and the amount of income tax deducted, if there are other payments on the pay slip, this information must be included as well as the total gross, net and income tax amounts
- the amount of any deduction and the name and bank details of the entity the deduction was given to.

Only certain deductions can be made from parental leave payments under the Australian Government Paid Parental Leave Scheme. Visit Centrelink for more information.

Employer-funded paid parental leave

As an employer, Yarram Early Learning will provide employees paid parental leave for 18 weeks at the level of remuneration they received prior to the birth of the child. The government will provide the minimum wage and Yarram Early Learning will provide the top up.

Strategies for Implementation

The Approved Provider is responsible for:

- Maintaining current information about their industrial responsibilities to their employees including The Fair Work Act and Children's Service Award 2010. Yarram Early Learning will be registered with Centrelink for the Paid Parental Leave Scheme.
- Ensuring that parental leave is adequately recorded as such on the employees payslips

The Nominated Supervisor and Responsible Person is responsible for:

- Ensuring that all employees are made aware of their legal right to maternity leave and paid parental leave at the time the employee advises of their pregnancy.
- Informing replacement employees engaged as a result of an employee taking maternity leave of the temporary nature of the employment and the rights of the employee being replaced to return to work.
- Ensuring that employees returning to work after parental leave will not be discriminated against in regard to accessing childcare within the service or breast feeding/expressing.
- Discussing options for a change in care arrangements with the employee should any issues arise in relation to caring for a staff member's child at the service, with the aim of reaching an agreed resolution to the difficulties.
- Supporting the returning employee to settle back into the work environment and having concern for their physical and emotional wellbeing.
- Where practicable, offer flexible work hours to the employee on their return to work, in the interests of maintaining a supportive and healthy workplace, and to encourage employees to return to work after maternity leave, thus maintaining continuity of care for children.

- Making sure that the pregnant employee takes a minimum period of 6 weeks compulsory leave after giving birth, before returning to work.
- Confirming the employees intention of returning to work in writing not less than 4 weeks prior to the expiration of the period of parental leave. He/she shall be entitled to the position held immediately prior to taking leave, or in the case of an employee who was transferred to alternative duties, to the position held immediately prior to this transfer. Where such a position no longer exists, but other positions are available for which the employee is qualified and capable of performing, the employee will be entitled to a position as nearly comparable in status and salary to their former position.

The Employee is responsible for:

- Inform the employer in writing of the expected date of birth (10 weeks notice required) or of the date of placement of an adopted child, and the intention to take parental leave (4 weeks notice required), including the dates on which the employee wishes to start and finish the leave. A doctor's certificate confirming the pregnancy and expected date of birth is required to prove entitlement to take parental leave.
- Taking a minimum period of 6 weeks compulsory leave after giving birth, before returning to work.
- Confirming their intention of returning to work in writing to the employer not less than 4 weeks prior to the expiration of their period of maternity leave. He/she shall be entitled to the position held immediately prior to taking leave, or in the case of an employee who was transferred to alternative duties, to the position held immediately prior to this transfer. Where such a position no longer exists, but other positions are available for which the employee is qualified and capable of performing, the employee will be entitled to a position as nearly comparable in status and salary to their former position.
- Submitting their claim for parental leave pay with Centrelink, who will then assess their eligibility.
